SUNDAY WORK FOR TEMPERANCE.

The Manhattan Temperance Association closed its season at Cooper Union yesterday. An elaborate programme was carried out. Dr. F. S. Lambert, delivered an address on "The Genesis of Alcohol." (Captain George Langdon Kilmer, of Lincoln Post, G. A. R., took the pledge and said that he was going to reform the military of the city. Sixty men of Temperance Company D, 12th Regiment, took the pledge in a body, and the Rev. Dr. J. P. Newman came on the platform in time to give them an encouraging talk. In conclusion he asked President Gibbs if it was the last meeting of the association at Cooper Union.

Mr. Gibbs—Yes, doctor, the last one. We want to hold be big meeting soon in your big church up in Madison-ave. Dr. Newman—All right, if you can get the injunction removed. (Laughter.)

Mr. Gibbs—God never puts an injunction on a glorious meeting— SUNDAY WORK FOR TEMPERANCE.

Dr. Newman (interrupting)—But churches do. How-ever, Brother (hibbs, the trustees are with me, and in-junction or no injunction you shall have the church at an early day. [Loud applause.]

Mr. Gibbs did not like the idea of being turned away from the Union by Mr. Sawyer and the Gospel meetings. He said:

People, I understand, have been talking about our meetings here and calling our glorious movement a circus. Bless you, it is a circus; it is the wildest show on earth.

Bless you, it is a circus; it is the wildest show on earth.

The audience at the American Temperance Union's meeting in Chickering Hall was small. C.

B. Cotten, the chairman, said that the amount of the collection would decide whether or not the meetings would be continued beyond next Sunday, but as long as the collections came within $25 of covering expenses the meetings would be held.

Mrs. Susannah Evans Pech was the first speaker. She described her work in Canada. Colonel Ward Sherman also stucks.

The Mizpah Gospel Temperance Association in the Clermont Avenue Temple, Brooklyn, discussed The Duty of Enforcing the Present Law." A. H. Walker said that he understood there is an organization among the liquor dealers for the purpose of enforcing the Sunday law. He hoped that they would suggested.

"Has the Austral been sighted yet?" "Have you any news of the Aurania?" "Have you heard from the Arizona?" were the questions frequently asked at the Ship News office vesterday afternoon. These three grayhounds of the sea left Queenstown within a few hours of each other on Sunday, May 18, and passed Fastret about the same time. Consequently there was considerable speculation as to which would arrive here first, and not a few bets were laid. The Arizona was the favorite and the Austral came next. Although it has been positively denied by the agents that there was any race, it is not probable that the knowledge that a steamer of a rival line was near him would make a sea captain loiter on the way.

The Arizona, of the Guion Line, has covered herself with glory heretofore. Her fastest time from A CLOSE RUN BETWEEN OCEAN STEAMERS.

was near him would make a sea capture the way.

The Arizona, of the Guion Line, has covered her self with glory heretofore. Her fastest time from Queenstown to this port was 7 days, 8 hours, 34 minutes. This was considered wonderful speed at that time, but then came the Alaska making the trip in 6 days, 21 hours, 40 minutes, to be eclipsed by the Oregon, which made it in 6 days, 10 hours, 10 minutes. The Aurania, of the Cunard Line, has made the trip in 7 days, 7 hours. The Austral is a new steamer belonging to the Anchor Line. She has made but one previous trip to this port, in a little over 8 days.

tle over 8 days.

The three steamers arrived last night and the following table shows the length of their passages.

WHY MRS. SCHIEFFELIN MARRIED AGAIN.

Lucy Cady Schieffelin, for whose arrest on the charge of bigamy a warrant was issued last week on the complaint of Herbert W. Beecher, has come to Jersey City from Monmouth County to answer the charge. She admits that she was married to Nathaniel Hewitt, of Vermont, several years ago, but says that he went to Colorado and after an absence of some years wrote to her that he had procured a divorce. She afterward met Bradhurst S. Schieffelin, her present linsband, and believing that she was free to do so married him. Mrs. Schieffelin attributes Beccher's charge to malice. She and her inusband constituted the Metropolitan Publiching Company, which published Hearth and Home, and Beecher was employed by them as manager. After the company failed Bercher claimed that there was $2,500 due him and sued for it.

Mrs. Schieffelin says that her husband is a relative of the wholesale druggists of that name in New-York. She was married to him by Justice Sheng in Heboken on May 24, 1883. Her husband owns a place at Long Branch and they were about going there for the season when they saw the statement in a paper that a warrant had been issued for her atrest, and postponed the journey. Mrs. Schießelin is a handsome woman. WHY MRS. SCHIEFFELIN MARRIED AGAIN.

THE FRIENDS' YEARLY MEETING.

The necting-house of the Society of Friends at Rutherford Place and Fifteenthest, was crowded in every part yesterilay. The raised scars which take the place of the pulpit in other churches were filled with ministers and elders from all the States the pince of the pulpit in other churches were filled with ministers and elders from all the States in the Union. A majority of the women were dressed in the solver celors of the sect, but handsome spring costumes were not rare. The female elders and ministers were all attired in the traditional Quaker gowns and bonnets. It was the first day of the regular yearly meeting of the New-York blelgious Society of Friends. John R. Cornell, of Mendon Centre, N. Y., was the first speaker. He spoke of the necessity of having professions and actions agree, and of the wrong of strite between religious sects. Dr. John Shatwell, of Rahway, N. J.: Samnel Levick, of Phitadelphia: Emily Camby, of Baltimore, Md. and Deborah Wharton, of Philadelphia, also spoke. To-day and to-morrow will be devoted to beginess matters. Wednesday will be devoted to religious services.

STUDYING SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY. The new iron steambeat City of Kingston, of the Cornell Steambeat Company, arrived here yesterday from Wilmington, Del., where she was built. This vessel is to take the place of the Thomas Cornell, which was wireked on the rocks up the Hudson about a year ago. She is built with ascrew propeller instead of the paddle wheels, which is a new departure if the Hudson Kiver steambeat travel. She made the run from Wilmington to New-York in fourteen hours. The boat is handsomely furnished and fitted with all modern appliances for the safety and comfort of passengers. She is 255 feet in length, 47 feet beam, and 1,117 tons displacement, and is supplied with compound engines. She will run between New-Nork, West Point, Cornwail, Newborg and Kingston, connecting at the latter place with the Ulster and Delaware, and the Sony Clove and Kaaterskill railroads.

"BECKY" WORSHIPPING IN JAIL. "BECKY" WORSHIPPING IN JAIL.

"Becky" Jones presented an unusually trim appearance yesterday as she attended the Sunday morning services in the prison chapel. Ludlow Street Jail did not seem to her to be an abode of crine, but rather a most acceptable place of worship, for she smiled languishingly upon the Rev. Dr. Morgan and cast her habitually coquettish glances at Deouty Warden "Phil." After the service she chad her shapely form in a black merino dress and held a reception the remainder of the day. When she saw a Iribunk reporter she said: "Why should I say anything to the newspapers? The lawyers have put me here because I hold my tengae, and I intend to do so." Then "Becky" turned away pouting and went into her room.

MORAN EXPLAINS HIS SON'S SHOOTING.

John Moran, the grog-shop keeper of No. 452
Grand-st., Jersey City, who was shot by his sen
Thomas and William Parsley on Saturdry night, made an ante-mortem statement yesterday. He said that the young mon entered the shep shortly before midnight and without a word of warning drew revolvers and began firing at him. He ran toward them and they retreated to the sidewalk. Moran chased them about two blocks, and then feeling himself growing weak, he turned to go back, when his sen fired another shot, the bullet entering his back, near the spine, and causing him to sink to the ground. The police believe that young Moran's motive was to aveuge his mother's real or fancied wrongs. Moran and his wife have not been living together for some time. Mrs. Moran keeps a grocery store adjoining her husband's liquor store.
She caused the arrest of her husband about two weeks ago on a charge of adultery, and began a suit

CREMATION IN JAPAN.

There is one nation, now the oldest empire in the world, where cremation is an established usage, and where the Government, with shrewd appreciation of the advantages of sanitary laws, have of late years candilly fostered it. This is Japan, where cremation achilichments, under Government control, are to be found in all the chief cities. In Tokio, the principal place of cremation is situated at Shenjo, a suburb reached through long lines of busy streets. It was fete day in the neighborhood, and at the time of my visit we approached it through a dense crowd of holiday makers. The shops were brightly lit. Jinrickshas abounded, most of them holding two, and one at least four, persons, two being babes. On these occasions the Jupan infant obtains a change of view and position. For the most part it peers out upon the world round the side of its mother's or sister's head. But it being physically impossible for a woman to sit in a finricksha with the everlasting baby at her back, it is, on this occasion only, slewed round to the front. Many of the tea-houses in this quarter were brilliautly illuminated with scores of lanterns. One, which our guide said was "a goose-house," had ever a hundred, a tall pole running up from befofe it hunging out a score. It appears that the Japanese is rapidly developing carnivorous fastes. As the home culinary department is not yet equal to cooking joints, the luxurious Japanese of the lower middle class goes out to a beef-house or a goese and duck house, and feeds on the unfamiliar viand.

After an hour's drive through a lame of busy life, we came to the silent house where the dead awaited the last service of the living. It stands a little apart from the main road, a building of a single story, with an innocent looking tall chimney, and might be connected with a pottery or a small iron foundry. The business is always conducted privately, and there are few in Tokio, except these who are professionally engaged, who have witnessed the process. But arrangements nade by the oun-potent foreing

A Little Girl in Albany, N. Y., Terribly Afflicted, Won-derfully Cured.

One of the most remarkable cures of scrofula on record is that of the little daughter of Mr. M. J. Quinn, 285 First.es., Albany. She was afflicted with scrofula from birth, and physicians said it would be better for her if she was dead. Her father says: "She had thirteen remains sores on her body, besides being absolutely blind for months. She lost the use of her limbs and could not walk; in fact, was a mere use of her limbs and could not walk; in fact, was a mere skeleton wasting away. The smell from the sores was terri-ble. Seeing in a newspaper some cases of scrofnia cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, I said to myself. 'I will try a bottle as a instresort.' When she had taken the first haif bottle I could see a change in her, and when the whole bottle was taken the abscesses almost entirely healed with the ahl of Hood's Olive Chattery, which I must say is the finest. Ointment, which I must say is the fluest I ever used. I kept on giving her Hood's Sarasparilla, till now she is well and on giving not make of it."—Michael J.
